Culture

Howgroup was established by Paul Howard (Director) and Faith Sun (General Manager). With over 50 years' industry experience between them, beginning with Ian Howard establishing in 1946 Aristoc Industries, Featherston Interiors & CoDesign, Paul and Faith created Howgroup after recognising the market was flooded with manufactures and suppliers telling designers and architects what they needed, rather than adapting to the ever-evolving needs and requests of their clients' brief. By combining a genuine passion for industrial design and a wealth of knowledge in furniture manufacturing and project delivery space, we have become a modern version of a solid model of principles long established, continually adapting to the world today.

Knowledge

Our long-standing relationships with industry-leading brand partners together with our own Australian manufacturing production, enable us to support the evolution of industrial design, working closely with Australian & international designers.

With extensive industry connections, we have the capacity to provide complete space solutions; from front of house to the back office & collaboration spaces. We provide clear and transparent pricing and are more than happy to assist with images, presentations and other marketing materials to help our clients get their projects over the line.
